Property overview

About this property

Tucked into a quiet Casselberry neighborhood, 1211 Lancelot Way feels like a charming retreat, with thoughtful updates and peaceful spaces to enjoy. Built in 1979 and beautifully renovated for life today, this three-bedroom, two-bath home offers a split floor plan, an attached garage, and memorable curb appeal from the moment you arrive. Butterfly gardens welcome you, while greenery drapes softly over a brick wall leading to a striking blue three-lite modern front door. Inside, a step-up dining area sits to the left, accented by a wall of mirrored closet space. To the right, the private primary suite features generous closets and sliding doors that open to its own garden hideaway. Two additional bedrooms are tucked down the hall beyond the indoor laundry room. At the heart of the home, the open kitchen and living area invite you to settle in and stay awhile. A corner fireplace creates a cozy focal point, while a garden just outside the living room window adds a lovely touch of green. The updated kitchen pairs custom cabinetry with a glass-tile backsplash for a clean, modern finish. The true star is the screened-in back porch overlooking a private pond. Sip your morning coffee, curl up with a book, watch the ducks and sandhill cranes, or unwind with your favorite evening beverage as the water sets the scene. Just a short stroll away, Lancelot Park offers another place to enjoy the outdoors and connect with neighbors and their pups. This is more than a renovated home; it's a peaceful little corner of Casselberry with a community waiting just outside your door.
